1. On the road from Potkraj to Hrusica Pass, sometimes referred to as Pear Tree Pass, there are two check points. The first is guarded by local militia and the other, nearer Hrusica, is guarded by the Yugoslav Armed Forces. The entire Hrusica area is patrolled and under strictest military security. Local residents are forbidden to trespass on military installations and Yugoslav soldiers have been ordered not to fraternize with the local populace.
2. [redacted] near Hrusica estimated that approximately 1,000 Yugoslav soldiers are stationed in the area.
3. In a small sector (unidentified) of the pass there are seven gun emplacements of reinforced concrete construction, many of which are located in the same position as former Italian fortifications.
4. Most of the fortifications in the pass are underground.
